

heaped upon people who do the bidding of the powerful and ignore the real problems of those who need our help and don't get it, and don't get it. We know the workers are entitled to better than what they receive. The problem is not enough of you have to work. That's what the problem is, and you have other things in mind than trying to help those who need our help the most. I come not to praise Senator Brashear, Senator Maurstad, but I don't come to bury him either. I say we should just state the facts as they are. Union Pacific can be branded or dubbed Lola, and it would be true this time, whatever Lola wants, Lola gets. And that's what will happen, and if some other big shot outfit comes in next year and says, Legislature, roll over and play dead, that's what the Legislature will do, and Senator Maurstad will stand up and praise the one who carried that bill for being very capable, very savvy and having done something which borders on a miracle. You know what I expect Senator Brashear to do, based on what Senator Maurstad said? Go to the Red Sea, stand on the bank, raise his hand and say, waters divide, and the waters will divide and anybody there can walk across on dry land. That's what I would expect, but I know better.

SENATOR CROSBY: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Maurstad, I may have been born at night, but I wasn't born last night, so I know what the political landscape is. And my good friend, Senator Schellpeper, knows in reality, and he was calling attention to it, that the Governor wants to be all things to all people so that's why he says everything to everybody, and it depends on which group he's addressing at the time as to precisely what he says. So he's everybody's buddy. He gives something to everybody, but that's what happens when you have vanilla spiced with a head of cabbage...or a head of cabbage spiced with vanilla. And I'm not going to speak my third time, so those who want somebody to call the question, you don't even have to worry about it.

SENATOR CROSBY: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Senator Warner.

SENATOR WARNER: Madam President, members of the Legislature, I rise to support the advancement of LB 1368. It's probably the first tax incentive bill that I've stood and made a presentation in support of, but I view this significantly different than some that I have not liked in the past. The big difference is, and
